DISCLOSING THE TRUTH

Schley Court of Inquiry Resumes Its Probing Process.

REAR ADMIRAL COTTON ON THE STAND

He Delivered the Dispatches Which Schley Said He Could Not Obey. Claim Made That Schley's Reply Was Garbled.

Washington, Sept. 25.—When the Schley court of inquiry reconvened at the navy yards there was general comment upon the fact that the seat which had been occupied from the beginning of the sittings by Judge Jere Wilson was vacant. He had endeavored himself not only to the members of the court, but to all persons about the court, and sorrow was shown on every countenance. Comment upon his sudden taking off was very general throughout the court room. The business of the court, however, was promptly resumed at the usual hour.

In answer to a question, Admiral Schley stated that since the death of Judge Wilson, Isidor Raynor would be the leading counsel in his case, assisted by Captain James Parker of New Jersey, and by M. A. Teague of Baltimore as an expert assistant. Mr. Raynor will continue the cross-examination of witnesses as he has been doing and the other men will continue in the same capacity they occupied up to the time of Judge Wilson's death. Mr. Raynor stated that if it became necessary in the preparation or abstracting of the voluminous documents in the case to employ assistant counsel, or if he should be unavoidably absent at any time, proper arrangements will be made for that purpose.

Maps of the Sea Fight.

The wall back of the court was adorned with a chart on a large scale, showing the ground site of the battle off Santiago July 3. The southern coast of Cuba in the vicinity of Santiago was plainly marked and the points at which the Spanish ships went to the bottom or to the shore were all indicated in plain lettering. There were also a number of transparent charts standing about in the rear of the room and which were intended to illustrate the various phases of the Santiago campaign. All these had been prepared with a view of expediting the work of the court and all were on a large scale. The first witness on board the Texas who had begun his testimony when the sittings of the court were so abruptly terminated by the death of Judge Wilson. Mr. Claxton said that July 23, 1898, he had been on duty in the engine room of the Texas. The engine indicator had called for full speed early in the morning, which had, within an hour after the beginning of the action been changed to "full speed astern." To his knowledge there had been no signal for the reversal of the engines. He said that he had been excused from service in the machine room, but he still knew that the engines were reversed about two minutes. Witness said the engine was stopped.

"What was the next change made in the indicator of the port engine of the Texas?" he was asked. "Full speed ahead."

"What was the next after that?" "There was no other order given for some time afterward."

"When was a further signal received by the indicator and what was the signal?" "Within the first hour of the engagement the direction was changed to full speed astern."

"Can you give an estimate of the time when the signal was given for full speed astern and how long after the beginning of the action?" "I should say within the first hour."

"Was there any other signal given during that watch within your knowledge for the port engine to reverse?" "There was none to my knowledge."

"You were on duty in the port engine room throughout that day, were you not?" "Off and on, sir."

"Where else were you on duty, if anywhere, at that time?" "I was excused for a time on account of heat."

"As a matter of fact were the engines reversed?" "They were for about two minutes." Mr. Claxton was not questioned by Mr. Raynor.

Rear Admiral Cotton Testifies.

Rear Admiral Cotton, now commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, who commanded the auxiliary cruiser Harvard during the Spanish war, was the next witness. He told of meeting the "flying squadron" under Commodore Schley off Santiago May 27, 1898, and said that he delivered dispatches that day to Commodore Schley from Admiral Sampson and the navy department. He said he boarded the Brooklyn about 10:30 o'clock. The weather was then moderate and he had no difficulty in going aboard the Brooklyn from his boat. He had worn his sword.

"What conversation took place between yourself and Admiral Schley?" asked Captain Lemly. "It will be impossible for me to state the entire conversation," the witness replied. "I was on board, generally speaking, from about 10:30 to about noon. The conversation naturally covered a very wide range, the most important part of which was of course relative to dispatches I had delivered."

"What was said about the dispatches?" "I delivered to Commodore Schley the original cipher in which the dispatches had been received by me at St. Nicholas Mole, together with translation of those dispatches made by Lieutenant Beall of the Harvard. I handed them personally to him in his cabin in the order of their date. He received them, read them and commented in a general way upon their purport; spoke of the difficulty he had in getting coal on board his ship at Cienfuegos and subsequently to the date of which I am speaking, May 27, and said it had been an almost impossibility to get coal on board on account of the weather. He questioned me relative to the practicability of coaling ships at St. Nicholas Mole and Gonaves channel. As to St. Nicholas Mole, I said: 'There is no question. The small ships can coal there. As to Gonaves channel, I know of no reason why you should not be able to coal there.' The commodore made some remarks upon my statements, the language of which I do not recall, but he asked me: 'How about the large ships at St. Nicholas Mole?' I said 'You can't coal your big ships there.' I had special reference in my reply to the battleships and protected cruisers of the Brooklyn and New York class. I said, thinking of the fact that my own ship had been there and was of some 12,000 tons displacement and nearly 600 feet in length: 'Possibly under favorable circumstances you might be able to coal the large ships there one at a time, but the area of deep water for the anchorage of large ships is so little there it was not practicable to coal at the very utmost more than one large ship at a time. In case the weather became bad she would immediately have to go to sea. I was anxious while I was there with the Harvard, on account of her size and I would have left at once in case bad weather had come on. As I remember, I recollect no qualification as to Gonaves channel."

"Was anything said at this time about going to Keywest for coal?" "Returning to what I said with reference to the difficulty which Commodore Schley stated to me he had in getting coal on board the ships at Cienfuegos, he said he was very anxious. The coal supply was getting short, the weather was bad and it had been bad almost continuously. It was a very serious problem as to how or whether he could possibly get coal on board ships off Santiago. He said if he found the weather did not improve and he found it impracticable to coal there he could only see one resort and that was he would be compelled to return to Keywest in order to supply his ships with coal. Having that question in view he was apprehensive, especially as to one ship, the Texas. He did not even know at that moment whether she had on board sufficient coal to enable her to return to Keywest. During my visit he gave an order to make a signal, a general signal as I remember it, not limited to the flying squadron alone, to report whether the ships had sufficient coal to reach Keywest. The signal was made, or at least, I assume it was made. At all events during my presence with Commodore Schley he received a report to the effect that all ships including the Texas had sufficient coal to return to Keywest. I think the commodore was very much relieved when he received this information. Shortly afterward, I should say within a few minutes, he directed a signal to me made preparatory for the ships to return to Keywest. The order was given in a general way. I cannot give the words of that order, but what I stated was their purport."

Official Dispatches.

In response to further questions, Admiral Cotton said that he had the original translations of the cipher dispatches addressed to the Harvard. The dispatch of May 25 was then read to him as follows:

"Washington, May 25, 1898.—Harvard, St. Nicholas Mole, Hayti.—Proceed at once and inform Schley and also senior officer present off Santiago as follows: All department's information indicate Spanish squadron is still at Santiago. The department looks to you to ascertain facts and that the enemy, if therein, does not leave without a decisive action. Cubans familiar with Santiago say there are landing places five or six nautical miles west from the mouth of harbor and that there insurgents will probably be found and not the Spanish. From the surrounding heights can be seen every vessel in port. As soon as ascertained, notify the department whether enemy is there. Could not squadron and also the Harvard coal from Merrimac leeward of Cape Cruz, Gonaves channel or Mole, Hayti? The department will send coal immediately to Mole. Report without delay situation at Santiago, Cuba. (Signed) Long."

Mr. Raynor called attention to the fact that there were some material changes in the dispatches as printed in the official reports by the navy department.

Admiral Schley's reply to these dispatches, dated May 29, in which he said he could not obey the orders of the department was then read and Mr. Raynor pointed out various changes in the language of the dispatches as printed in the official report. He addressed the court briefly concerning these changes. He said that Admiral Schley had spoken of the weather as "boisterous" and that word had been omitted from the printed copy of the dispatches. He also stated that whereas the admiral had said that 9,500 tons of coal would be necessary the printed copy made it 10,000 tons. It was also stated in the original that the Harvard was going to Port Royal, whereas Kingston had been inserted in the printed copy. There also were other changes.

Following is the text of the original dispatch sent to the navy department by Commodore Schley: "Received dispatch of May 26 by Harvard off Santiago de Cuba. Merrimac's engine is disabled and she is helpless; am obliged to have her towed to Keywest. Have been absolutely unable to coal the Texas, Marblehead, Vixen and Brooklyn from coiller owing to very rough seas and boisterous weather since leaving Keywest. Brooklyn is the only one in squadron having more than sufficient coal to reach Keywest. Impossible to remain off Santiago in present state of coal account of squadron. Not possible to coal leeward of Cape Cruz in summer owing to south-west winds. Harvard just reports to me she has only coal enough to reach Jamaica and she will proceed to Port Royal; also reports only small vessels could coal at Gonaves or Mole, Hayti. Minneapolis has only coal enough to reach Keywest and same of Yale, which will tow Merrimac. It is to be regretted that department's orders cannot be obeyed, earnestly as we have all striven to that end. I am forced to return to Keywest via Yucatan channel for coal. Can ascertain nothing concerning enemy. Was obliged to send Eagle to Port Antonio, Jamaica, yesterday as she had only 27 tons of coal on board. Will leave St. Paul here. Will require 9,500 tons of coal at Keywest."

Admiral Cotton related a conversation he had with Admiral Schley concerning a proposition of Lieutenant Beall of the Harvard to go ashore and put himself in communication with the Cuban insurgents. He could not, he said, recall the exact words of the conversation, but at all events Mr. Beall had not been ordered ashore.

Judge Advocate Lemly then asked "After you had delivered the order, and prior to the dispatch which he delivered to you to be sent to Kingston, what efforts did he make to locate Cervera's fleet, to your knowledge?" "None, to my knowledge."

"Referring to that phrase in the dispatch: 'The department looks to you to ascertain the facts that the enemy, if there, does not leave without a decisive action,' what within your knowledge did Commodore Schley do in obedience to these instructions?" "Nothing to my knowledge."

"Did he with his squadron at that time approach Santiago?" "He did not. I will qualify that to this extent. The vessels, of course, were not at anchor; they were moving about, but there were no indications of a movement toward the harbor of Santiago."

After some further minor interrogatories Judge Advocate Lemly started to read dispatches received by Admiral Cotton from Admiral Schley, delivered by the Scorpion.

Mr. Raynor objected to the reading of these dispatches unless Admiral Sampson's dispatch, No. 7, to Admiral Schley should also be read, as, he said, "Admiral Schley's orders were based on that."

At this point Captain Parker remarked that this dispatch would not be found. To this remark Captain Lemly took exception, saying that it was out of place for counsel to make such comment. Admiral Dewey sustained the objection.

The order of Admiral Sampson, which is a letter known as the "Dear Schley" letter, was then read.

Cotton Cross-Examined.

During the cross-examination by Mr. Raynor court recessed for luncheon, after which the cross-examination continued, but developed nothing of additional importance.

Mr. Raynor called the admiral's attention to the fact that one of the dispatches which he had said he delivered May 27 had been dated at Washington as of that day. This is the dispatch in which Secretary Long had instructed the commander as to the importance of determining explicitly whether Cervera's fleet was in Santiago harbor. The admiral said that if he had said this dispatch was delivered May 27 he had made a mistake—that it was delivered May 31, after his return from Kingston. Mr. Raynor attempted to have Admiral Cotton say his conversation with Admiral Schley concerning Lieutenant Beall's proposition to go ashore and communicate with the insurgents had occurred May 31 instead of May 27. Witness said this might possibly be the case, but that to his best recollection the conversation occurred May 27. Mr. Raynor explained that May 31, Admiral Schley sent another man ashore to communicate with the Cubans, which would explain Admiral Schley's declaration of Lieutenant Beall's proposition to send a man ashore.

Captain William C. Wise of the auxiliary cruiser Yale followed Admiral Cotton, and was on the stand when court recessed till morning.

OF ASIATIC ORIGIN.

Cliff Dwellers and Mound Builders Two Distinct Tribes.

Durango, Colo., Sept. 25.—Leopoldo Batres, a scientist representing the government of Mexico, is in Durango on his way to Mexico from a visit to ruins of cliff dwellers in the Moncoacan. Senor Batres has fully satisfied himself that the inhabitants of the cliffs were of Asiatic origin, as he found many baskets and other trinkets of Asiatic and Japanese design. He thinks the mound builders and cliff dwellers after leaving this section migrated to Mexico, going through Arizona, where indications of their stoppage en route are found. In Mexico they comprised the original folkets and built cities. That this is so is verified by legends and inscriptions. Senor Batres found on some of the walls of the rooms.

Anarchists Arrested.

Taeoma, Wash., Sept. 25.—Charles Govan, James W. Adams and James L. Larkin, members of the Home anarchist colony in this county, have been arrested under an indictment found by the federal grand jury at Spokane charging them with depositing in the mails an obscene newspaper. The prisoners were brought to Taeoma and committed to jail pending examination. An indictment was also returned against G. Morong, whom it is claimed was the author of the objectionable article. Morong is now in Massachusetts, but will be arrested and brought here for trial. The newspaper in question advocates anarchy and free love.

Period of Official Mourning.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Secretary Cortelyou announced that President Roosevelt would not hold any official functions at the White House until the public reception New Year's day. After that date the receptions will take place as formerly. Formal calls of organizations and officials in a body will be declined until after 30 days from the late president's death. The flag on the executive mansion will fly at half mast and mourning papers will be used by the heads of the departments for a period of 30 days.

Pug's Fatal Blow.

New York, Sept. 25.—George Johnson, colored, 37, of Brooklyn, died from the effects of a blow on the point of the jaw received in a friendly bout with Tommy West the welter weight pugilist at the latter's training quarters where West was getting himself into condition for a contest at Port Erie, Canada, with Al Weig. Johnson was taken to a hospital and never regained consciousness except for a few minutes after arriving there. West was placed under arrest and held without bail on a charge of homicide.

Beckham Orders Out Troops.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 25.—Governor Beckham ordered out the Owensboro and Bowling Green troops to go to Madisonville. This was done in response to a report made by State Inspector Henry Hines, who has been there to investigate the trouble. Mr. Hines states that the request for troops was made by both the strikers and non-strikers, as they were not able to cope with the lawless element.

Return of Gen. Corbin.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Major General Corbin, the adjutant general of the army has returned from the Philippines. While he declined to submit to a formal interview, he talks freely of the conditions of affairs in the Philippines, particularly of the work accomplished by Generals Sternberg, Weston and Greely. The general is greatly pleased with the conditions obtained in the archipelago.

William Deering Ill.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—William Deering, 70, head of the great agricultural implement manufacturing works that bear his name and president of the board of trustees of the Northwestern university, is seriously ill at his home. On account of his advanced age his condition is causing the greatest concern among friends.

Prof. J. S. Crosswell, who murdered his sweetheart Mollie Powell at Rolla Mo. foiled the pursuing posse by shooting himself through the heart.

VISIT WITH ASSASSIN.

Father, Brother and Sister of Czolgosz Granted an Interview.

THEY DID NOT STAY VERY LONG.

Prisoner Talked Freely But Gave No Information Tending to Criminate Any One in a Plot to Kill President McKinley.

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—Paul, Waldeck and Victoria Czolgosz, father, brother and sister of Leon Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, were granted an interview with the prisoner in the Erie county jail. Frederick Haller, assistant district attorney, and P. V. Cussack, assistant superintendent of police, were present under instructions of District Attorney Penny. The interview between the assassin and his father, brother and sister lasted 35 minutes, but no information leading to the implication of any one else in an anarchist plot to kill the president was given by the prisoner. "We learned nothing that we did not know before," said Mr. Haller, the assistant district attorney, at the conclusion of the conference. He talked more than he had at any previous time but even to his family he was not very communicative.

Several times when he was pressed to tell the true story of the assassination, the prisoner repeated the words: "I did it alone; there was no one else." The prisoner asked nothing about the other members of his family or his friends and did not give any evidence of sorrow or regret over his act. The father and brother were affected naturally over the meeting, but they gave little outward evidence of it. The sister cried all of the time, but the prisoner gave no evidence of feeling aside from saying that he was glad he could see them.

The prisoner's relatives returned to Cleveland immediately after the interview.

No other person will be allowed to see the prisoner until after the sentence of death is imposed Thursday afternoon.

BACKWARD ABOUT BETTING.

Cockey Sports Seem to Lack Faith in Lipton's Yacht.

London, Sept. 25.—The betting in London shows how slim are regarded the chances of the Shamrock II lifting the America's cup. There is such difficulty to find takers that after 50 to 40 was twice laid, the Columbia admirers were obliged to raise odds 110 to 80. Even this did not attract the betting men. The general public is apathetic. The long, optimistic special dispatches from New York fail to convince. The newspapers were are trying to awaken interest in the race by more or less colorable imitations of American newspaper methods, in announcing the progress of the cup races by electrical devices and firework signals, one paper having arranged to run a couple of launches with green and red lights respectively on the Thames.

MacArthur's Opinion.

Milwaukee, Sept. 25.—General Arthur MacArthur, who recently returned from Manila, says the conclusion in the Philippines are favorable for the ideas of a republic. At an informal reception accorded him by the chamber of commerce he made a brief address in which he said in part: "To my mind the beauty of our possessions at Manila lies in the planting of American ideas of beneficence in the eastern world. We are planting imperishable ideas in that great eastern country. We are carrying the doctrine of personal liberty there and wherever the flag of the United States in the process of just advancement is once planted it is going to stay forever. The conditions there are favorable for the ideas of a republic."

G. A. R. Commander's Staff.

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—Ell Torrence, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. has announced the following staff appointments: Adjutant general, S. H. Towler, of Minneapolis; quartermaster general, Charles Burroughs, of Rutherford, N. J.; inspector general, Wilfred A. Wetherbee, of Boston. This will be General Burroughs' fourth successive term as quartermaster general. He has served under Commanders Gohin, Sexton and Rasseur. The appointment of Mr. Towler makes it certain that Minneapolis will be headquarters of the Grand Army during Judge Torrence's administration.

Prominent Illinois Mason.

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 25.—The Hon. Charles Mac 68 past grand commander of the Grand Commandery Knights Templars of Illinois died at the residence of his son Carl Mac in Arkansas City Kan. of paralysis. He formerly was prominent as superintendent of railroads now merged in the Vandalla and Big Four systems and was at one time mayor of this city.

TESTS PATIENCE.

The Most Patient Maysville Citizen Must Show Annoyance at Times.

Nothing spoils a good disposition, Nothing taxes a man's patience, Like any itchiness of the skin. Itching Piles almost drive you crazy. All day it makes you miserable, All night it keeps you awake. Itch! Itch! Itch! with no relief. Just the same with Eczema. Can hardly keep from scratching it. You would do so, but you know it makes it worse.

Such miseries are daily decreasing. People are learning they can be cured. Learning the merit of Doan's Ointment. Plenty of proof that Doan's Ointment will cure Piles, Eczema or any Itchiness of the skin.

Read the testimony of a Maysville citizen.

Mrs. H. Poth, of Forest avenue, says: "Doan's Ointment is a wonderful preparation and cures as if by magic. For a long time I had an itching of the scalp which was particularly troublesome just before a rain. Learning that Doan's Ointment was highly recommended for all troubles of this nature I got a box at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drugstore, corner of West Second and Market streets. Its use soon ended the irritation. Two months have since elapsed and I have had no return whatever of the affliction." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Pennsylvania's Disgrace.
(Philadelphia Press, Rep.)

Measures put through the Legislature by criminal methods were signed by a complaisant Executive and a machine State convention, impudently pretending to speak for the Republican party, cordially indorses both the Executive and the Legislature in its puerile and ridiculous platform. It is no wonder the Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth, himself one of the sturdiest and most uncompromising Republicans in Pennsylvania, should give vehement expression to his disgust and resentment. But he is expressing only what all sincere Republicans in the State feel. They are deeply conscious of the humiliation and disgrace put upon the State and the party.

Baby's Coming

McDonald, Ga., July 18, 1900.
I advise every suffering woman to take Wine of Cardui. While I was going with my other children I was compelled to stay in bed for days at a time, but this time I have taken Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught and have been able to do all my housework without any trouble. I am expecting every day to be confined. My husband thinks Wine of Cardui is the best medicine in the world. He takes a dose of Thedford's Black-Draught every night and gives some to the children. He has not lost a day from work this year. He tells his friends about your wonderful medicines and I tell my lady friends to use your Wine of Cardui.
Mrs. GEORGIA LEE.

WINE OF CARDUI

There are thousands of women who shrink in terror at the thought of the baby's coming. But childbirth is one of the workings of Nature and it was not intended to imply torture and agony to the heroic mothers of the race. The woman who suffers torture during pregnancy and at childbirth has usually, by some indiscretion, injured the organs which make her a woman. Neglect of menstrual irregularities leads to ovarian pain, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and the period of pregnancy is necessarily distressing under those conditions. Wine of Cardui will regulate the menstrual function perfectly and eventually make the generative organs strong and healthy. Pregnancy and childbirth have no terrors for the woman who takes this pure Wine. A strong healthy womb will bring its precious burden to maturity with little or no pain. A healthy woman need not fear childbirth. Wine of Cardui completely cures all these troubles familiarly known as "female diseases" and equips the sensitive generative organs for pregnancy and childbirth. It will save any mother much pain and suffering. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.

The Ohio is now surveyed from Pittsburgh to Petersburg, Ky.

The Keystone State left Pittsburgh Tuesday for Cincinnati and is due down this evening.

The M. P. Wells is still in the hands of the United States Marshal. It is said that no agreement has been reached and the boat will be sold to settle claims against it.

The new towboat Robert Gillham will be taken from Parkersburg to Marietta for her machinery this week. She belongs to the Kanawha and Ohio Company, of Cincinnati.

The Barrett Milling and Boat Company, of Levanna, has contracted to build six of the largest model barges ever put up at that yard. They are to be used in the lower river trade.

It is now a practical certainty, says an exchange, that the Bays will not buy the steamer City of Wheeling. At one time it was announced that the deal had been made. This is now contradicted and the further announcement made that the deal will not be made. That the Bays will put a boat in the Ironton and Cincinnati trade there is no room for doubt, but the City of Wheeling does not just satisfy them for that trade.

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

Interesting Discussion of Gunshot Wounds of the Stomach—Dr. Taulbee's Instructive Paper—Dr. Cook Presents a Rare Case.

The extreme interest in the proceedings of the Medical Society yesterday was manifest in the attendance of physicians from the county, who are almost universally up-to-date doctors, and devoted to the practical aspects of their profession. Dr. John Cook, of Wedonia, brought with him a case (which is of rare occurrence) of disease of the "supra-renal capsules," which he has had under treatment for eleven months. The patient was carefully examined by the physicians present and the ensuing discussion elicited many facts of interest.

Dr. Taulbee's description of his very difficult and perfectly successful operation for "cystocele" was listened to with profound attention. The methods described in this paper materially help to explain Dr. Taulbee's extraordinary success as an operator in other cases.

Dr. T's valuable contribution was followed by an interesting discussion of "Gunshot wounds of the stomach"—a subject to which recent events have imparted a profound and peculiar interest.

Dr. Jack Cook gave some instructive details of three remarkable cases in his own practice which have led him to the startling conclusion that, when it comes to gunshot wounds of the stomach, the Afro-American is immune.

The next meeting will be held at Wedonia on the last Wednesday in October.

The Lewis House at Georgetown, O., was damaged by fire the first of the week. At the time the fire occurred, the corpse of Mrs. Lewis was in the house, her death having occurred the day before.
